To whom it may concern,

Able Data have recently completed a 7,000 outlet installation at City of Westminster College, Paddington, London. Despite the complexity of the building and access constraints (all services had to share the area under the floor), Able Data managed to successfully install a high performance Cat6a cabling system on programme. I was particularly impressed by the professionalism of their entire team, and how they were always able to respond quickly and without complaint to changes in the requirements.

The building has now been handed over to the University and is fully occupied with students. I am happy to confirm that there have been no problems with the cabling system.

In summary I can fully recommend the services of Able Data to any prospective client.

Yours faithfully,
